Importance of Add-on Course

Desirable to get a job anywhere in the world.

Studying a vocational add-on course along with the subjects we pursue from time to time will further secure the future. This is a practice that has been followed for ages in Western countries.

A one-year add-on course Diploma along with Degree can be useful even for part-time jobs. We now offer such an add-on course for science optional degree students with the concept of employment anywhere in the world.

WISESTEPS Faculty of Food Technology has now launched a wide range of courses in Food Technology which provide maximum career opportunities in the new era. The reality is that with modern advancements in food technology, this sector is facing a shortage of professionals. This is the reason why the importance of food technology courses has increased.

Recognizing the need for vocational education in the new age, WISESTEPS Faculty of Food Technology offers an add-on course to all science degree students. The course is Diploma in Food Safety & Quality Assurance.

The program is approved with the American Board of Education and is of one year duration. The American Board of Education (ABE) is an organization established with the State of California (USA) to assess, qualify and certify educational institutions for professional development programs. This opens up unlimited opportunities for students not only in the US but also globally.

We prepare an online study plan to help you complete the add-on course without disturbing your regular course.

Along with studying Food Safety & Quality Assurance course, we also provide opportunity to get FSSAI mandated foSTaC Certification and Highfield (UK) HACCP Certification to get laudable employment.

Get in touch with our course coordinator immediately to know more about the said course which gives you the opportunity to get a job anywhere in the world.

Our other Skill Programs

are useful for getting job easily

We are an official training partner of foSTaC-FSSAI, the Food Safety Department of the Central Government. We have been providing FSSAI-mandated foSTaC Training & Certification and HACCP Training & Certification for many years to those working in manufacturing and distribution companies, catering companies and hotels in the food sector. During the training period we can identify the shortage of professions experienced by many institutions and the lack of skilled people in the sector. Often the owners of the organization make it clear. Therefore, if the mandatory skill certificate information is recorded in the resume of those seeking employment in the food sector, the future will be bright.
